

DETERMINING DATE WHEN KEYS AND THEIR CODES CHANGED IN MODEL A PRODUCTION (AND JUST WHERE DID ALL THOSE ENGINES GO)?

(“*” REPRESENTS DEALERSHIP AS ASSEMBLY PLANT IS UNKNOWN)

(“C” means CROWN)

(“*” means “AA” Truck Engine)

There are three great research articles: in The Restorer, Vol. 30, No. 4, PP. 10-15 (1985) about “Model A Keys and Locks” by Mr. Cal Allan and Phil Allin (A); AND in Model A News, Vol. 36, No. 6, PP. 13-15 (1989) about “Model A Ignition Locks” by Jerry Parr (B); and Model A News, Vol. 56, No. 2, PP. 26-30 (2009) about “Keying Your Model A” by Jerry Parr (C).

Instead of using “early” and “mid”, designations for when one type of key was changed to the other type of key, I have taken it one step further and used original Factory (Assembly Plant) and Dealership Bill of Sales and Titles. The key codes and the engine number, which were on the titles, were used, and recorded below, to determine a true cutoff date.

If you have any Factory Bills of Sale or Dealership Bills of Sale with key data on them, please let me know so we can incorporate the data off of them. Thanks. steve@plucks329s.org.

(B): "MODEL A IGNITION LOCKS":

- "The second ignition lock was A-11582-B.
- This lock was used in the new switch released for the instrument panel re-designed in mid-1930.
- This lock did not use a different key, but continued to use the same key A-11586-A as the first lock.
- It continued to use the same code number series A800 through A1050 as the first lock.
- This lock also had its code number stamped in the side of the plated cap.
- This lock could not be used in switches designed for the A-11582-A lock".

(B): "MODEL A IGNITION LOCKS":

- "The third and final lock, A-11582-C, was released in late 1930 for use on the Victoria Coupe.
- This application was noted in the November 26, 1930 Indianapolis Service Letter.
- This lock had a new key way, a new key, A-11586-C, and a new set of code numbers, A1301 through A1550.
- The code number on this lock was again stamped on the plated cap.
- This lock had a groove added in the side of the lock cylinder that mated with a raised rib in the switch.
- This reduced the chance of the entire lock being forced to turn thus improving security.
- This lock was used in service to replace A-11582-B lock but the A-11582-B lock will not fit in a switch designed for the A-11582-C lock".

DECEMBER 19, 1930, CHICAGO FORD SERVICE LETTER:

- “Ignition and door locks which employ only one key for opening as used on the Victoria Coupe, will be extended shortly to include the Deluxe Delivery, A-Panel and AA-Panel.
- We will supply in the very near future, tire locks on which the lock cylinder can be fitted to the ignition key, permitting the use of one key for ignition, door, and tire lock.
- It must be understood, however, that interchanging of lock keys can only be effected on the new lock series, A1301 to A1500 (A1550) and at the present time on the Victoria Coupe”.

DECEMBER 28, 1930, FORD SERVICE BULLETIN:

- “A change has been made in the lock cylinders in the ignition and handle locks used with the Tudor, A-Panel, AA-Panel and Deluxe Delivery.
- Interchangeable lock cylinders are also used in the locks in the new Victoria Coupe and Special Delivery.
- Cars and trucks equipped with interchangeable lock cylinders use but one key.
- That is the same key operates both the ignition and door handle locks”.

(B): "MODEL A IGNITION LOCKS":

- "In early 1931, a minor change occurred in this lock (A-11582-C), when the code number was moved to the face of the lock shoulder. This move eliminated any chance of reading the number while the lock was installed".

JANUARY 15, 1931, INDIANAPOLIS FORD SERVICE LETTER:

- "To provide a lock for door handles, ignition switch, and tire lock, having one key only for all locks, a new series of locks has been adopted for use on the Deluxe Delivery, A-Panel and AA-Panel.
- These locks are similar to those now in use on the Victoria Coupe.
- The key series for these new locks is A1301 to A1550, and lock cylinders cannot be made to work with these on other models as the cross section of keys are different".

JANUARY 15, 1931, INDIANAPOLIS FORD SERVICE LETTER:

- "To provide a spare wheel and tire lock for service with out the use of an additional key for cars having interchangeable lock cylinders on the ignition locks, door handles, etc., such as the Victoria Coupe, Deluxe Delivery, A-Panel and AA-Panel, new tire and wheel locks have been adopted".

(C): "KEYING YOUR MODEL A":

- "The code number (of the key) was moved to the body of the (ignition) lock to make it more secure in mid 1931. All locks with the code number in this location use the later style key".

JUNE 28, 1931, FORD SERVICE BULLETIN:

- "A change has been made in the location of the screw which fastens the remote control connecting link to the door unit.
- This change has been made in all door locks using the following bodies: 160-A. B and C Sedans, 190-A Victoria Coupe, 79-B "A" Panel Delivery, 225-A "A" Panel Delivery Drop Floor, 85-B "AA" Panel Delivery 131-1/2" Wheel Base".

JULY 8, 1931, INDIANAPOLIS FORD SERVICE LETTER:

- "The ignition lock and conduit assembly, A-11575-E, has been changed as follows:
 - Three longitudinal lugs have been added on the inside of the lock body to prevent the lock cylinder from being driven out by thieves thus closing the ignition circuit contacts.
 - Also it is specified that the serial number is to be stamped on the front vertical face of the lock cylinder body instead of the top face of the nickel plated cap to prevent thieves from providing a duplicate key".
- (These two changes were not incorporated at the same time. Therefore the change in the lugs cannot be identified by the change in location of the serial number).
